Joy Talouzian's practice focuses on commercial litigation in federal and state courts.

Joy is a graduate of the L.L.M. program at Duke University School of Law. She is a Lebanese lawyer admitted to practice in Beirut, Lebanon. Prior to joining Russo PLLC, Joy worked at Badri and Salim El Meouchi Law Firm, a prominent law firm in Lebanon. Her work focused on banking and finance and advising clients on Lebanese and Qatari law. While enrolled at Duke, Joy participated in the children's law clinic where she represented children with disabilities and advocated for their rights in educational settings.

Joy received a Bachelor's degree in law from the University of Saint Joseph in Lebanon. She is fluent in Arabic, French and English.
